The Division of Continental Europe into Eight Great Nationalities.

[From the New York Times.]

The striking political pamphlet which has just been issued in Paris, the authorship of which is attributed to the French Emperor, refers frequently to the Napoleonic project, for the arrangement of Europe, according to a plan [illegible] consistent with the origin of nations, the geographical divisions of nature, the solidarity of people and the general fitness of things. The ideas of Napoleon on this subject, are perhaps somewhat fanciful in their character, and not likely ever to be realized; yet as matters of speculation they are of great interest. Moreover, we are free to say that the principle upon which they are based is more coherent than it may at first sight [illegible]; and, still further, that the events of the last ten years have brought some of their points into the region of actual facts. Without giving the arguments or illustrations, we will indicate the features of this programme:

1. Spain and Portugal to be consolidated into an Iberian nationality, with Fez and Morocco for a colony. This union would be a blessing to both countries. The royal Bourbon family of Spain effete. [illegible]

2. France to absorb Belgium and Luxemburg and restore Alsace to Germany. Sardinia to be annexed, if the popular vote so decides. Algeria to remain a colony, or as an outlet to the restless population.

3. Italy to engross the Tyrol, (or that part of it whose people speak Italian) and Friuli to the Isonzo. Tunis to serve as a receptive colony.

4. Prussia to absorb all Germany, including Kingdom of the Netherlands, Holstein, the German part of Schleswig, the German Provinces of Austria, and, if justice is done, Courland (certainly), and Livonia, (q[illegible]), although geographically these two last Provinces should belong to a new Kingdom of Poland. As already the rest of the African coast has been apportioned, let Egypt be given to Germany as an outlet for its learning and lawle[illegible]

5. Hungary proper, to regain the limits of her "flourishing era," (see La Hongrie, Paris, 1851), and re-incorporate Illyria, Croatia, Sclavonia, Servia, Bosnia, Dalmatia, and [illegible] of Istria to include the [illegible] of Fiume. The whole Istrian promontory should belong to this new nationality, but Trieste and Venice are too near together, and one of the Istrian ports must [illegible] ally draw to itself the [illegible] of V[illegible] from the filling up of its port. When Louis the Great (the greatest Magyar, save Matthias Corvinus), who commenced to reign in 1342, died in 1382, Hungary extended from the Baltic to the [illegible] of Byzantium, north to south; from the Black Sea to the Gulf of Naples, east to west, binding together in one sheaf, Hungary proper, Poland, part of Russia, Transylvania, Moldavia, Wallachia, Bulgaria, Servia, B[illegible], D[illegible], Crotia, and Sclavonia.

6. A new Grecian or Hellenic nationality, including all that now belongs, nominally or virtually, to Turkey in Europe, (for the Turks are but a barbarous horde, encamped on Christian soil,) except the provinces already assigned to Hungary or Poland.

7. Poland as it now stands, Gallicia, White Russia to the Dneiper, including the Polish part of Ukraine, and as [illegible] right to have its sea [illegible], Livonia on the north and Bessarabia on the south, including Odessa.

8. Scandinavia to regain Finland and all [illegible] land, and include [illegible], Norway and D[illegible], with the Danish part of Schleswig. [illegible] the great Chancellor of Gustavus [illegible] conceived the idea of making the Baltic a [illegible] lake, and shutting out the R[illegible]. The plan above sketched, however, [illegible] to Russia all east of [illegible], [illegible] Petersburg and Cronstadt.

The projector of this prog[illegible] holds that the chief idea of every such distribution must be its influence on mankind as a whole, on civilization, on morality, and on the [illegible]. The obvious result will be that [illegible] nationalities will about equipoise on the other. Therefore, there will be, first, no strong one to prey upon the weak, even if so inclined, and consequently, no [illegible] for wars of [illegible] and ambition. Second, this distribution is the result of an enduring and just principle, which no political distribution hitherto has been, there will be no jealousies to feed and no quasi legitimate [illegible] for territorial robbery, [illegible] [illegible] the principle of language and [illegible] the basis for determining boundaries, brute force is so ipso, excluded in settling the frontiers of [illegible] If there is a doubtful population, that is, doubtful because of mixed [illegible], for [illegible] or Sardinia, the question to which [illegible] they will adhere should be decided by the popular vote. Third, as all causes of war which have hitherto desolated civilized Europe are done away with by this plan, the [illegible] will be [illegible] that the same powers and resources now employed in keeping up armies and navies, fortifications, &c., will be turned toward the development of internal industry and commerce. Therefore [illegible] forces which the great military Kingdoms of Europe have always been turning against each other and which mutually restrain and cripple each other, can unitedly be directed toward [illegible] ends, and in diffusing civilization throughout the world. With this will inevitably follow the blessings of Christianity, and the way to the millennium be prepared.

New Custom House Proposed for New York.—Mr. A. B. Mullett, Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department, in his report just submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, thus speaks of the New York Custom House in Wall street, which was formerly the Merchants' Exchange:

Considerable improvement has been made in this badly arranged and inconvenient, though durable and costly building. A new tin roof has been substituted for the former galvanized iron covering; the upper stories that were occupied by the American Bank Note Company until May 1, 1866, are now being refitted and arranged, defective ventilation of the rotunda improved, the heating apparatus repaired and extended to the upper stories, and the interior thoroughly cleaned and painted. Additional room has been obtained in the basement and principal stories by the removal of the awkward stairways on Exchange Place, and communication provided between the different sections of the upper stories. Other improvements have been made and arrangements perfected to place the whole building in good condition. I desire to call the attention of the department to the desirability of procuring sufficient space on the Battery for the erection of suitable buildings for the entire customs establishments in the City of New York, including the Custom House. The present Custom House, though its purchase was an advantageous and profitable transaction for the Government, is not conveniently arranged or well adapted to the transaction of the public business, and is already inconveniently crowded in the executive branches, and will before many years be entirely inadequate for the transaction of the business of the port.

The stepmother of Abraham Lincoln still lives near Farmington, Coles county, Illinois, in a one-story log cabin containing two rooms. Aunt Sally Lincoln, as the villagers call her, is now eighty years old, and very feeble. She is a plain unsophisticated old lady, with a frank, open countenance, a warm heart, full of kindness toward others, tall and slender, and, in many [illegible], very much like the President—enough to be his own mother. And, as he was but nine years of age at the time of her marriage with his father, it is not improbable that she had much to do in forming his character. She still speaks of Abraham as her "good boy," and praises his obedience. She says, "Abraham and his stepbrother never quarreled but once, and that, you know, is a good deal for stepbrothers." About a mile and a half from her old cabin is the grave of Thomas Lincoln, father of the President. It is marked by a piece of clapboard, on which is rudely carved only the initials, "T. L."

The active army of France on the 1st of October, 1867, the date of the last returns that have reached the Minister of War, consisted of 358,769 men in the interior, and 65,263 in Algeria; making a total of 424,032. But from that number is to be deducted about 40,000 men on leave, which reduces the number to 384,032. At the same date the figures for that reserve were 226,466. The general total of the active army is therefore 650,498.

Reduction of the Army.

General Grant has issued an order directing the suspension of recruiting, except of [illegible] for the regular army, until the re-enlistments are reduced to the maximum number of fifty men in each company. This, it is understood, will reduce the number of men in the regular army to 42,000. This very wise order will save [illegible] expense of about $8,000,000, and it is the [illegible] to which the General can proceed in that [illegible]. The number of regiments is fixed by law, with a maximum and minimum number of privates to each company. Any further reduction [illegible] be authorized by legislation, and there is no [illegible] why there should not be such legislation [illegible]. The reduction of the number of privates in a [illegible] does not reduce the number of commissioned officers; a regiment of 400 men [illegible] as [illegible] to [illegible] as it as a regiment with the [illegible]. An army of 42,000 men is more than the [illegible] needs on a peace [illegible]. The S[illegible] States will, in all probability, be [illegible] reconstructed governments within the [illegible] or six months, and there will be no [illegible] for an army to enforce the laws and [illegible] the [illegible]. We think that an army of 25,000 men is all that can [illegible]. An army [illegible], 500 men to a regiment, [illegible] Colonels, 84 [illegible] [illegible] many [illegible] 840 Captains, and [illegible] of [illegible] ants. These officers are not the [illegible] item of the cost of the army; and by a [illegible] of the whole force to fifty [illegible] the government to save many millions [illegible] will be thrown away upon the [illegible] military establishment unnecessarily large.

We think that Congress should do no [illegible] [illegible] to authorize the [illegible] to gradually reduce the army to the [illegible] of 25,000 men. It might be done in the [illegible] way that he has provided for its reduction to the [illegible]. That [illegible] be suspended, and that when any regiment [illegible] reduced below the minimum, its men [illegible] be transferred to some other regiment, and [illegible] [illegible] out. Or, Congress [illegible] that [illegible] day the G[illegible] might, if in his [illegible] the [illegible] of the country warranted it, [illegible] the [illegible] ments to fifty.—Chicago Tribune.

J. N. DOLPH,

Chairman Union State Central Committee.

Portland, January 17th, 1868.

Contradicting Himself.

Last week we stated that the Democratic majority in the California Legislature tabled a resolution introduced by Westmoreland, a Union man, declaring that the result of the late elections was not an endorsement of secession, nor a condemnation of the war for the Union. This [illegible] up poor old Beriah, who had been as [illegible] as a mummy for some time past; and he forthwith [illegible] to refute it by [illegible]. After [illegible] thus disposed of the subject in his [illegible] manner, he unwisely continues it and attempts to give its history; and, as a matter of course, before getting through it, he stultifies and convicts himself of falsehood. He gives [illegible] resolution, which was as follows:

Resolved, By the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate concurring, That the [illegible] in California and other States, resulting [illegible] to the Democratic party in all of the said States, and an increase of the party vote in nearly all, is not in any way to be [illegible] as an endorsement of secession, nor a [illegible] to the [illegible] or result of the late war; but that, on the contrary, the said doctrine of secession is a [illegible] wholly unfounded in law, and the civil war [illegible] was maintained by the adhering or loyal States and people, in strict [illegible] to the [illegible] and instincts of patriotism.

This is the resolution which was tabled. What is there in it that is objectionable to any Union man? [illegible] calls it "dishonest clap trap." He had just [illegible] of making a false statement [illegible] that the resolution had been tabled; and [illegible] afterwards he denounces the resolution, [illegible] that it was tabled, and says that [illegible] was adopted in its [illegible]. The [illegible] adopted by the Democrats, declaring, he tells us, "the trick of W[illegible] to [illegible] the Democrats to [illegible], or to the [illegible] of the Radicals and the results of the late civil war." So it appears that the Democrats [illegible] the war for the Union [illegible]. [illegible] do not believe it was "patriotic" to fight the [illegible]. Of course not. Beriah need not [illegible] that [illegible] was there any [illegible] for his [illegible], and then [illegible] that it was true. [illegible] of him that when he was a [illegible], away down in New England, he often [illegible] his milk, and by [illegible] watered it a second time. [illegible] honesty, is [illegible] as an editor.

[illegible] from the California [illegible] will be recollected that Beriah [illegible] of his partner, [illegible] Senator, flopped and [illegible] Union party over to the Democracy [illegible] Democratic neophyte, [illegible] to the [illegible] liberality, and declares he did not [illegible] and is not [illegible] for what he said [illegible]. It is the old story [illegible] Noah [illegible] at [illegible], lying in his tent, intoxicated. [illegible] the [illegible] of wine [illegible] find no [illegible] for but "devil," have [illegible] his own shame and the [illegible]. Nowadays, [illegible] always take a new and [illegible]. Get a [illegible] drunk, and its ten to one, that he will [illegible] desire for Democratic principles. [illegible] a Democratic [illegible] to this degrading [illegible] his [illegible] prompted him to make a [illegible] by openly announcing himself a [illegible] of that party. If there is the [illegible] in a man, get him [illegible] will [illegible]. Witness [illegible] Democratic speech on the 22d of [illegible], and his numerous addresses while "swinging around the circle" the following summer. Take the case of Barnes. A tolerable respectable man when sober; but the moment he gets drunk he declares himself a Democrat, and [illegible] he recovers his senses, is heartily ashamed, [illegible] old Noah was, and begs that his disgrace may be forgotten and that he may not be held responsible for what he said on such an occasion. Had Cassio lived in our time he would not have been at a loss for a name for this invisible spirit of wine. Instead of "devil," he would have called it "Democracy."

The Copperheads are continually crying that the "Radical" policy is calculated to elevate the negro, and make him the equal of the white man. Now if the negro can be "elevated," what friend of humanity and civilization ought to object? We hope that his condition can be improved, and if there is any way of making him superior to the average Democratic white man, we should hope for that too.

Contracts have been entered into for surveying and marking the boundary between Oregon and California. Also for that portion of the eastern boundary of Oregon which lies due south of the confluence of the Owyhee with Snake river, to the [illegible] boundary of Nevada. We [illegible] from the report of the Secretary of the Interior.

The Methodist Church at Oakland (both [illegible]), says the Sentinel, for the last three months have been actively engaged in holding protracted meetings, with much religious success. The meetings still continue.

On the 1st inst. the snow was thirty inches deep at Fort Klamath. Up to that time there had been little cold weather at that point, though doubtless it has been much colder before this time.

Secretary Welles estimates the expenses of the Navy Department for the present year at upwards of $47,000,000,—a sum far too great at a time when we are at peace with all the world.

What the Confederate Hopes are Based Upon.

James M. Mason, formerly a Senator from Virginia, celebrated for his plantation manners, and, during the rebellion, the Confederate Minister to England, has recently published in the Richmond papers a correspondence between himself and one Graham, in which the Confederate-Democratic doctrine in respect to the colored race is clearly and boldly stated. Graham has taken up a residence in Jamaica, and writes to Mason that he, Davis, Breckinridge, and the rebel leaders generally, should repair to that island. Mason objects to this, because the negroes of Jamaica are free, and there is no hope that Great Britain will ever enslave them again. He thinks the United States offers the better inducements in this particular for high-born gentlemen of the "ruling race," and states the grounds of his opinions, as follows:

My decided conviction has been that, for the present at least, it would be better for them to remain and wait events, in the hope and belief that a time must come when the reckless and unscrupulous party in power at Washington would be overthrown, and the Southern States again remitted to full and exclusive control over their respective populations, without foreign intervention.

In such case I should rely that the intelligence, wisdom, and, more than all, the experience of our people in regard to the negroes, would enable them to devise some system of legislation by which, without again reducing them to slavery, they would be made to discharge the incumbent duties of a laboring class—a hope now much encouraged by the apparent tone of the North, as evinced in the late elections.

Certainly, if the Democratic policy is to triumph and prevail, there is no reason why Mason's hopes may not be fulfilled. The establishment of that policy would be, in fact, the complete fulfillment of Mason's plan. The purpose is, and the result would be, to establish peonage, or the "apprentice system," under which the employer would have all the power of an absolute master, with none of his responsibilities. And, that this charge may not rest on conjecture, let well known facts be remembered to attest its truth. In 1865, the governments which Johnson erected in the rebel States all established the system which Mason proposes. Their whole legislation in regard to the blacks was intended to compel the emancipated race "to discharge the incumbent duties of a laboring class." Thus, in all essential things, a system of slavery was established; while in many respects, this legislation made the last condition of the blacks worse than the first. Congress rightly refused to allow these gross acts of injustice to continue, and declined to recognize the State governments under which a worse system of slavery than that which had been abolished was to be maintained. What the rebels did then, they would do again if they were allowed the power; and [illegible] it is literally true that it is necessary for the negroes of the South to have the ballot to protect their rights.

It will be noticed that Mason builds his hope of the restoration of slavery upon the result of the late elections. He thinks that so far as they show a gain for the Democratic party, they also give encouragement that the North may consent to the re-establishment of slavery. This, he thinks, is the "apparent tone" of the North as indicated by the elections. So he is not going to Jamaica, but, in company with his Confederate brethren, will make out his list of slaves, claiming compensation for the missing ones and pay for their services during their interval of freedom.

The other day, in a profound article on "political rights and social equality," the Herald undertook to illustrate the danger of any attempt for the improvement of the condition of the negro, by quoting the well-known verse:

> "Vice is a monster of such frightful mein
> As to be hated, needs but to be seen,
> But seen too oft, familiar with her face,
> We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

The argument appears to be that if the Democracy are brought in contact with the "nigger," they may first come to endure the evil, after which they will naturally pity and embrace it. But this need not give them so much alarm. The consent of the negro would have to be obtained for such an arrangement. But if the negro had not too much self respect, and were so debased as the Democracy suppose him, we should have no doubt of the danger of the latter."

A resolution was recently introduced in the House by Mr. Hooper of Massachusetts, to the effect that there ought not to be over three hundred millions of dollars collected by taxation in one year. The collections for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1867, amounted to $490,000,000. Late dispatches indicate that a rule something like that proposed by Mr. Hooper is to be followed. It is resolved that the amount raised this year by internal tax shall not exceed $150,000,000. For the year ending on the 30th June last, the receipts from internal revenue amounted to $266,027,537 43. The reduction proposed will be a great relief to the country.

Prof. J. H. Turner, teacher of the school in the Upper Corvallis District, was stabbed last Wednesday by a pupil, a nephew of the teacher. The wound is just in front of the right shoulder, and is about two inches deep, though not serious. The Gazette says that the teacher was in the discharge of his duty when assaulted. The pupil who committed this atrocious act is sixteen or [illegible] years of age. There is some promising "gallows fruit" ripening in this country.

The Chicago Tribune is responsible for the statement that "S. B. Axtell, elected as a Democrat for the First Congressional District of California, cast his initial vote on the Republican side on the opening day of the session." A California paper expresses the fear that some of those terrible "Radicals" in Congress have been "scathin" Mr. Axtell.

Beriah says that if the "Radicals had let the country alone there would have been nobody hurt." Exactly what Jeff. Davis, the leader of Beriah's party said. All he wanted was to be "let alone." B. B. is an imitative animal. He repeats Democratic parrotry with remarkable success.

The San Francisco Examiner, (Democratic) says that a pamphlet will soon appear on the California Senatorial election, which is expected to deal in terrible facts, and create a necessity of investigation into the conduct of numerous persons in and out of the Legislature.

At the opening of the Parliament at Berlin, there appeared in the reporters' gallery a female correspondent of the Indianapolis Journal, Springfield Journal, and Quincy Whig, and she has continued there in her place greatly to the surprise of all Germany.

Valuable gold nuggets are still found in Jackson county. Peter Hanson, mining on Jackson creek, took out in one day last week two nuggets, weighing jointly fifteen ounces.

From October 31st to December 31st, 1867, [illegible] of land was sold and transferred in [illegible] county. The average price per acre was eight dollars.

Mr. [illegible] Cox of Josephine country, is about to commence writing a History of Oregon. He is now collecting materials for his book.

About one-sixteenth of the whole sum received by the Government from the excise on spirituous liquors is collected in San Francisco.

The papers of Southern Oregon report more snow in that section than has been witnessed since the memorable winter of 1861-62.

The cost of the original Capitol at Washington City, was $1,400,000. The additions, now nearly completed will cost $12,000,000.

The Committee of Ways and Means adopted as a principle to guide the committee in its amendments to the Internal Revenue law, that the resolutions that $150,000,000 shall be considered the amount necessary to be raised from the internal revenue tax, the same to be collected, first, from distilled spirits; second, from tobacco; third, from stamps; fourth, from special taxes; fifth, from incomes; sixth, from dividends; seventh, from luxuries and amusements; eighth, from banks and railroads; ninth, from gross receipts; tenth, from legacies and successors, leaving the lowest possible sum to be collected from industrial pursuits.

The McArdle Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The Supreme Court was crowded by many of the most distinguished members of the bar to hear the argument in the McArdle case. McArdle was imprisoned by Gen. Ord, and ordered to be tried by a Military Commission, on a charge of [illegible] reconstruction by certain publications in his paper at Vicksburg. The motion argued to-day was for giving an early hearing to the principles involved. Senator Trumbull opened for the Military authorities. Judge Black opened for McArdle. Judge Sharkey also [illegible] on the same side. Hughes appeared for the Government. The Court took the matter [illegible].

Gen. Meade's Action in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 17.—The correspondence between Gen. Meade and Gov. Jenkins has been published. Meade considers the ordinance of the Convention requiring the State Treasurer to advance $4,000, to be paid when the specific tax is collected, as an appropriation made by the Convention in the sense used by the Constitution of the State, and therefore requests Gov. Jenkins to issue a warrant for that amount. Governor Jenkins declines, saying he does not consider the Convention called under the Constitution, but by Congress. An ordinance of the Convention is not made by law. He says Congress does not saddle the cost of the Convention upon the State Treasury, but provides that the Convention shall levy a tax for the [illegible] purpose of defraying its expenses.

Gen. Meade replies expressing regret for Jenkin's action, which he considers an impediment to reconstruction. He does not feel called upon to meet his arguments but to remove him from office; while entertaining for him high personal respect, as both acting from a conscious sense of duty.

The Controller has been removed, he having refused to recognize Gen. Meade's authority. An army officer has been appointed in his place.

What Johnson Proposes to Do.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The World's special says it is officially informed that the President will issue no orders to Stanton. The latter can issue no orders by the President's authority. It is alleged that at the Cabinet meeting of Friday, the members compared notes as to what occurred at the meeting on Tuesday, when Grant was present, and Grant admitted the correctness of the President's statement that Grant was to hold on to the office, or give timely notice, to enable the President to appoint another Secretary.

The President [illegible] in the most positive terms respecting the new reconstruction measures before Congress, claiming that he was directly elected by the people as well as Congress, but that he would resist the encroachments upon his Constitutional authority with all the power at his command.

The Sentinel says that on Thursday night of last week, the coldest of the winter, a family, consisting of a man and woman and three little children, the oldest not more than seven or eight years of age, camped out in the snow just below Willow Springs. They were traveling with an ox team, the poor worn out woman, trudging behind in the snow, and the little half-frozen children huddled up in the bottom of the old shaky wagon to keep from perishing. The conduct of a man who will drag a helpless family over the country at this inclement season, must be owing either to extreme destitution or to foolish hardihood.

Among the Brahmins, the waist before eating is girdled with a single straw. When the stomach is filled the straw breaks, and the Brahmin stops eating. Thus a straw shows in what way the grub goes. We doubt if the plan would prove efficacious as an anti-dyspeptic in this latitude. For the average American appetite would not only disdain to be fettered by a straw, but the average American would continue to eat, if so inclined, though all the buttons of waistband and waistcoat were to pop off in a sonorous succession of snaps.

Two Pictures.

[From the Chicago Times.]

Six years ago, a Virginia gentleman rode over his farm, blessed with the rich products of a fertile ground, and happy in the comforts of a large family that surrounded him; his wealth and energy contributed to the prosperity of the land; his sons and daughters were growing up to a life of culture and usefulness; he and all that were near to him enjoyed the blessings of peace and prosperity; his servants were attached to him through kindness; and the slave song was more frequently heard, and was more cheerful than the freedman's now; easy work by day and calm rest by night constituted the life of his whole household.

To-day, the same Virginia gentleman, bowed down with premature old age, and stricken by misfortune, is forced to regard the poor, wretched fragments of a former prosperity; war has devastated his lands and dismembered his family; his sons have fallen in battle, and his daughters have lost their society; his servants, happy and willing, have become masters, outcast but dictatorial; his resources are all gone; his lands yield him no more rich harvests; his taxes have been more than doubled, and he has neither the money nor the means of making the money to pay them.

TWO MORE PICTURES.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Six years ago a Virginia gentleman rode over his farm, blessed with the rich products" which a fertile ground yielded to him, under the conditions of toil enforced by the lash, and labor which brought no compensation to the laborer. He was "happy in the comforts of a large family that surrounded him," and the largeness of his family depended upon the number of his female negroes. "His sons and daughters were growing up to a life of culture and usefulness"—of culture in the manly arts of African concubinage and Virginia braggadocio, and of usefulness in the womanly art of doing nothing. "He and all that were near to him enjoyed the blessings of peace and prosperity," and yet he and all that were near him, plotted and executed treason, the highest of crimes. "His servants were attached to him through kindness," but the kindness was of that cheerful order which is enforced by the lash the pillory and the pistol, and the attachment was always in the form of a warranty deed. "The slave-song was more frequently heard" than the freedman's now, from the fact that the freedmen have something to do now besides singing; the sound of the whip and the cries of torture were also heard on every plantation—sounds which are not heard at all now. "Easy work by day" and plenty of sleep at night, constituted the life of this Virginia, six years ago, but he was very careful to do the sleeping and let some one else do the easy work, for which some one else never received any pay.

To-day this same Virginia gentleman "bowed down with premature old age" and shame, and "stricken by misfortune" in the ingnominious failure of his treason, "is forced to regard the poor wretched fragments of a former prosperity" as men, freemen and his equals before the law. "War has devastated his lands and dismembered his family," events wich are highly probable in the course of all wars. "His sons have fallen in battle," as they deserved, and "his daughters have lost their society"—a loss, the length, breadth and depth of which it is impossible to estimate at this writing. "His servants, happy and willing, have become masters," which naturally makes this Virginia gentleman unhappy unwilling. "His resources are all gone," as might have been expected. "His land yields him no more rich harvests," because he is too indolent to work himself, and because the masters, who do the work now, demand wages. "His taxes have been more than doubled," and the Virginia gentleman will find it very hard to pay them, because his recent property, instead of yielding him anything, is now busily engaged in paying its own taxes.

All these misfortunes are the compensations of Nature, which steps in and supplies the punishment for treason which the law is loth to enforce. It is but natural to presume that this old Virginia gentleman does not like the second picture as well as the first. He should have thought of this, however, before he made the investment. The best thing the old Virginia gentleman can do is to hang the picture and bless his lucky stars it is not himself.

An editor wrote an article on the fair sex, in the course of which he said: "Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of Beaux." When the paper was issued he was rather shocked to discover that an unfortunate typographical error had made him say, "Girls of seventeen or eighteen are fond of Beans."

A professional "padder," that is, one who improves flat breasts and feeble knees and thin legs, writes to one of his customers: "New York—Mam: Them tites are finished your nees will be all O K when you get them on. Bad figgers is all plaid out now they will caust 9 dollars."

When the ladies of the court of Sweden got through hugging and kissing Admiral Farragut, they each and all exclaimed—"farry goot!"

WHILE SOME MEN BREAK THEIR Noses, Smash their Heads, Play Base Ball, &c., on the Ice, others are quietly seated before a good fire. Now, the question arises, which is the most comfortable? Buchtel's Photograph Gallery is the only establishment in Oregon that is thoroughly prepared to do all the different styles of work in the art. DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS should be in the possession of everybody in the mining region. As a preventive of various dangerous diseases to which the gold seeker is liable, it has no superior. In all cases of diarrhoea, dysentery and the prevailing fevers consequent upon exposure, the Bitters will be found invaluable as a corrective. SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.—We clip the following from the review of San Francisco markets, Jan. 2d, as published by the Sacramento Union of the the 4th—seven days later than any news heretofore published in this city:

[illegible] market at this [illegible] of the year rarely presents any features of particular interest. The exceedingly inclement weather, which has flooded a large portion of the agricultural districts, and cut off communication to a great extent with all parts of the interior, has put a stop to trade in that direction. The export business, though impeded greatly by the same causes, has not been so entirely suspended. Candles are much [illegible], sales are reported at 24c. for Grant's, with accumulating stocks. Coal is still advancing; there is no [illegible] in the market. Fruits of all kinds are in excessive abundance and ruinously low in price. The first lot of [illegible] from Los Angeles for the present season have come to hand. They are beautiful in appearance and delicious in flavor; but Oranges are not as much sought after in cold, wet weather as during the heated term of summer. The steamer Idaho brought 10,000 from Honolulu, [illegible] brought [illegible] lot from Mexico, and the Timandra brought some from Tahiti—so that the market is glutted with them, and the roads are so bad that they cannot be shipped to the interior. Cranberries are [illegible]. The [illegible] brought 70 bbls. from Oregon, which sold readily at 95c@$1 ℔ gall. Dried [illegible] sales have been made of Oregon at 7[illegible]c. ℔ ℔. The last steamer brought 4,547 boxes [illegible] which sold at prices that would not cover the cost of sending them from Marysville. Sugar is lower; [illegible] is at 11½@12c. It is probable the reduction will reduce their prices [illegible] for the next year.

The steamer [illegible] was detained from Monday till [illegible] awaiting the [illegible] of the mails and passengers from Asia per the China, which was six days behind [illegible]. She took [illegible]: 4,642 sks flour, 228 bales wool, 375 hides, 358 bales raw silk, 900 pkgs tea, [illegible] in treasure.

The Produce market is in a healthy condition, and, but [illegible] active, as there are more [illegible] in port and freight is less than [illegible]. There are no less than 48 square rigged vessels in the harbor at present, and [illegible] to £2 2s. 6d. ℔ long ton to England, and $14 currency to New York.

[illegible] of all kinds of [illegible] have been light, as will be seen by reference to the annexed figures: Wheat, 42,645 sks; [illegible], 6,130 sks. Oats, 1,880 sks. Flour, 11,618 sks. Potatoes, 6,71 sks. Hay, 2,760 [illegible] and 676 do Wheat from Oregon.

[illegible] including the week embrace 11,480 sks Flour, 71,378 do Wheat.

[illegible] have been large, including 2,868 sks per Oriflamme and 1,6.0 do per Montana [illegible] an upward tendency. The reduction in freight has given quite an impetus. The [illegible] line, carries flour to New York at $2 ℔ bbl. There are heavy orders in the market from New York and China. It is estimated the next two steamers will take 10,000 bbls to New York, and nearly 12,000 bbls have been [illegible] for China. I regret to state that some of our [illegible] brand of extra for the New York [illegible], which they sell below the current rates, say at $7 50 ℔ bbl. This will injure the reputation of San Francisco brands. The current prices are, [illegible]; extra, $7 50@7 75, in half and [illegible] sks.

[illegible] has been [illegible] reduced. It is estimated that there are not [illegible] 50,000 tons to the State that can be spared for [illegible]. The market is very firm at $2 50@2 65 for [illegible]. The old dodge of telegraphing a reduction in price at Liverpool was [illegible] only partial success. I cannot see the difference between such a practice and [illegible]. The latest advices from Liverpool and New York [illegible] no change in prices, with a firm market in [illegible] during the week 2,800 [illegible] at $2 25; 3,500 do at $2 30; 35,500 do shipping [illegible] do at $2 55; 16,000 do choice at $2 60; 12,000 do at $2 60.

[illegible] is quick, but firm. [illegible] an important advance in the spring. Very little of this grain has been planted—everybody planting wheat. A few sales have been made at $1 80@1 90 ℔ 100 lbs.

Oats have been dull of sale, but are firm at $1 70@1 80 ℔ 100 lbs.

Potatoes are selling from 50c@$1 30 ℔ 100 lbs., according to condition and quality. There is full four months' supply now on hand.

[illegible] settled in price, most of that coming to [illegible] selling at $12@16 [illegible] Good sound lots [illegible] $20@24.

[illegible] are in [illegible] and for export. The [illegible] for New York, takes 1,700 sks [illegible] white, which command 3c ℔ ℔ here; Bayous, 3@[illegible] from 2@3c.

[illegible] to decline in price, choice [illegible] full butter offering at 45@47½c ℔ ℔, picked at [illegible] is dull at 20@25c. Cheese is more [illegible] an excellent article of new is on the market at [illegible] selling at 16@20c. Eggs are abundant at [illegible].

[illegible] is a little more active, but at reduced prices; [illegible] the week include 130,000 lbs spring, selected, [illegible] 35,000 lbs medium at 16@21c.

[illegible] are [illegible] lower, choice dry city lots selling at [illegible] green, salted, at 7c ℔ ℔.

[illegible] with an increasing demand for [illegible] consumption. Good beef commands [illegible].

[illegible].—Going to the [illegible] up the Enterprise [illegible] on Saturday, printed on a half sheet, [illegible] very little news. We [illegible] from it, however, that Dr. Wythe did not [illegible] as expected on [illegible], as there was no [illegible] between [illegible] City and [illegible]. On Tuesday [illegible] Hon. J. N. Dolph will lecture upon the [illegible] of the M. W. [illegible] H. Frazer [illegible] himself as a candidate before the next Republican County Convention for the nomination to the office of County Clerk. Mr. O. Ross has [illegible] of the select school, under the direction of [illegible] to add to the [illegible] Latin and Indian languages, [illegible], moral and physics and [illegible].

[illegible]. Several [illegible] are reported as having broken through the ice of the river on Saturday. [illegible] a boy named [illegible] Stevens, had a [illegible] from drowning, as he was helpless and had sunk [illegible] fortunately, he was rescued by Mr. [illegible]. The ice of the river has many air [illegible] in it, and though the great body of it is thick [illegible] bear a much heavier weight than a man, it is [illegible] by any means a safe field for skating. Air holes, [illegible] kept open till [illegible], may be [illegible] with a thin crust of ice. The skater [illegible] at the top of his speed, cannot tell the [illegible] between the safe and [illegible] ice, till perhaps, too late to avoid a plunge bath. It would be well to exercise [illegible] while skating on or crossing the [illegible].

THE WEATHER.—The old Winter King [illegible] to be going [illegible]; he is still fairly in one of his [illegible] and means business. No sooner does the wind begin to manifest symptoms of being tired of [illegible] out of one corner of its mouth constantly, than gruff old Winter bawls out, "steady, there!" and then [illegible] the freezing air again from the Northwest. How long this sort of thing is to go on has not been telegraphed, and the mooniest soothsayers seem to be as much [illegible]. Consult whatever sign, or [illegible] what you may, and the invariable, uncomforting answer comes back, that nothing has been heard from [illegible] and [illegible] is known only that [illegible] Dread Winter may be his [illegible] gloom [illegible] of the conquered year?

[illegible].—News was received in this city on Saturday that a [illegible] had occurred between [illegible] Bush and S. A. Clarke, the editor of the [illegible]. The difficulty undoubtedly grew out of the late publication of articles in the Record, reflecting upon the [illegible] integrity of Mr. Bush while acting as State Printer. We had fully expected to hear of such a result.

[illegible] writing the above, we have received the Salem [illegible] Saturday evening, which says: "The [illegible] in which the job was done, reminded us of the [illegible] the showman stirs up the monkeys. The editor [illegible] may consider himself bushwhacked decidedly."

[illegible].—We are in receipt of a copy of the "Roster [illegible] of the 13th U. S. Infantry," stationed in Montana, from which we learn the station of several officers [illegible] and well known in this Department. W. V. Spencer, through whose courtesy we have the [illegible], is 1st Lieutenant, Co. K., commanding company, at Fort Shaw. W. I. Sanborn is 2d Lieutenant, Co. A, with his company at Fort Shaw. Wm. Kapus is 2d Lieutenant, Co. F, with his company at Fort Ellis. [illegible] in the 1st W. T. Infantry, Volunteers.

A POSITIVE ADVENTURE.—On Saturday a man named [illegible], who had been and still is sick, with [illegible], [illegible] out of a second story window of a hotel and ran [illegible] distance up Front street, in an almost nude condition. He was finally captured and taken back to his [illegible], but succeeded in getting out again, during the [illegible], when he ran a very exciting race, but was [illegible] caught by Deputy Marshal Partlow, in a [illegible] state. As might be supposed he did not escape some [illegible] injuries. His [illegible] were superinduced by the [illegible] fever.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Saturday, Jan. 18th: John Edwards vs. James Field; demurrer [illegible] and defendant filed answer. The plaintiff was [illegible] until February to reply. Wait for plaintiff and [illegible] for defendant.

[illegible] & [illegible] vs. Oregon Herald Publishing Association; demurrer to complaint overruled, and defendants [illegible] until the 25th January to file answer. Logan & [illegible] for plaintiffs, Wait for defendant. Court then adjourned without day.

THE RIVER BELOW.—A messenger sent down the river last week, by Wells, Fargo & Co., to meet the [illegible] as far as Oak [illegible] this city Friday evening. [illegible]. He heard nothing of the [illegible].

[illegible] TO ASTORIA.—Wells, Fargo & Co. dispatched [illegible] messenger, at 11 o'clock A. M. yesterday, overland to Astoria, for the purpose of procuring the express matter brought up by the steamship Oriflamme. The journey to Astoria and back will probably occupy about eight days.

MILITARY EXPRESS.—Mr. Ish who started on Thursday morning, with the military express for Camp Harney, returned on Friday night, having learned that the depth of snow beyond Canyon City would render the trip impracticable.

THE SCHOONER CROSBY.—A private dispatch dated at Nanaimo, Jan. 9th, states that the schooner Crosby was then loaded with coal and that it was the intention of the master to sail on the 14th for Portland.

THE MAILS.—Mr. Q. A. Brooks, Postal Agent, dispatched a messenger, yesterday to Astoria to bring up the San Francisco mails.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, JUSTICE.—Proceedings of Saturday, Jan. 18th:

John B. Lambert, et. al. vs. L. M. Starr et al; in equity; set down for hearing to-day upon special pleas. Page & Hill for complainants; Chapman for defendant.

MAILS FROM ST. HELENS.—The mails from St. Helens—the first since the freeze up—were brought up Friday evening by Mr. W. F. Williams, Deputy Sheriff of Columbia county.

LAFAYETTE STEAM MILLS.—A letter from Mr. J. W. Watts, states that the Lafayette steam mills commenced grinding on the 10th inst.; everything working well.

CHILDREN'S PROGRESSIVE LYCEUM.—The meetings of the Portland Children's Progressive Lyceum have been discontinued until further notice.

CAPITOL, OLYMPIA, Dec. 11th, 1867.

DR. GROSS, Portland—Sir: I have been in the habit of using the "HENLEY ROYAL BALSAM" in my family, who reside at Wallula, Walla Walla county, W. T. I am now at Olympia, attending the present session of the Legislature, and the climate is so different from that of Walla Walla county that I have taken cold, and I have endeavored to purchase some of the medicine here but was unable to do so. Please send a bottle up immediately by mail. I have used nothing else in my family and cannot get along without it. Yours truly,

DR. G. W. COOL,
DENTIST.

THOSE WHO DESIRE FIRST-CLASS DENTAL SERVICES might do well to give him a call. He is making a NEW AND IMPROVED VULCANITE PLATE. The nature of his improvement consists in lining the entire concave surface with fine gold; it makes the plate twice as strong and one-third times thinner than the common vulcanite plate. It also prevents the acids of the mouth from roughing the plate, and from turning it black, which is a common occurrence. One half of the common vulcanite plates turn black after being in use a short time, particularly where tobacco is used for smoking. His new style of plate admits of a very fine finish on the concave or palatine surface. His office is the only place where such work can be had. The improvement is his own invention, for which he has received, December 3d, 1867, a patent from the United States Patent Office. He has been making this style of work for the last two and a half years, and has specimens of the work which can be seen at his office. This work has given satisfaction in every case.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER,

THE UNIVERSAL REMEDY FOR INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL COMPLAINTS!

At this period there are but few of the [illegible] race unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while [illegible] use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We therefore wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands alone, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines, and its sale is universal and immense. The demand for it from India and other foreign countries is equal to the demand at home, and it has become known in these far off places by its merits.

TAKE NO MORE UNPLEASANT AND UNSAFE REMEDIES for unpleasant and dangerous diseases. Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can be discovered only after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling tribute of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

An Extraordinary Adventure.

The following interesting incident was related to me by one of the most remarkable men I ever met. His name was Audubon. I accidentally met him at a cabin on the Ohio, near the Wabash, where we both stopped for the night. He told me he had traveled over a large tract of the Western county, chiefly for the purpose of studying the varieties of birds. He seemed to have a deeper and more earnest love for nature than any man I ever knew. He wore the usual hunting-dress, and was a fine, noble looking man. His dog and gun were his only companions on his journey. Well, Mr. Audubon told me that he was on his return from the upper Mississippi, and found himself obliged to cross a prairie of great width.

The weather was fine—all around him was as fresh and blooming as if it had just issued from the bosom of nature. His knapsack, his gun, and his dog were all he had for baggage and company. But although well moccasined, he moved slowly along, attracted by the brilliancy of the flowers, and the gambols of the fawns around their dams, to all appearance as thoughtless of dangers as he himself.

His march was of long duration; he saw the sun sinking beneath the horizon long before he could perceive any appearance of woodland, and nothing in the shape of man had he met with that day. The track which he followed was only an old Indian trace, and as darkness overshadowed the prairie, he felt some desire to reach at least a copse, in which he might lie down to rest. The nighthawks were skimming over and around him, attracted by the buzzing wings of the beetles which form their food; and the distant howling of wolves gave him some hope that he should soon arrive at the skirts of some woodland.

He did so, and almost at the same instant a firelight attracted his eye; he moved towards it, full of confidence that it proceeded from the camp of some wandering Indians. He was mistaken. He discovered by its glare that it was from the hearth of a small log cabin, and that a tall figure passed and repassed between it and him, as if busily engaged in household arrangements.

He reached the spot, and, presenting himself at the door, asked the tall figure, which proved to be a woman, if he might take shelter under her roof for the night. Her voice was gruff, and attire negligently thrown about her. She answered in the affirmative. He walked in, took a wooden stool, and quietly seated himself by the fire. The next object that attracted his notice was a finely-formed young Indian, resting his head between his hands, with his elbows on his knees. A long bow rested against the log wall near him, while a quantity of arrows and two or three raccoon skins lay at his feet. He moved not—he apparently breathed not. Accustomed to the habits of the Indians, and knowing that they pay but little attention to the approach of civilized strangers, Audubon addressed him in French, a language frequently partially known to the people in that neighborhood. He raised his head, pointed to one of his eyes with his finger, and gave the naturalist a significance glance with the other. His face was covered with blood. The fact was, that an hour before this, as he was in the act of discharging an arrow at a raccoon in the top of a tree, the arrow had split upon the cord, and sprang back with such violence into his right eye as to destroy it forever.

Feeling hungry, Audubon enquired what sort of fare he might expect. Such a thing as a bed was not to be seen; but many large untanned bear and buffalo hides lay piled in a corner. He drew a fine time-piece from his breast, told the woman that it was late, and that he was fatigued. She had espied his watch, the richness of which seemed to operate upon her feelings with electric quickness. She told him that there was plenty of venison and jerked buffalo meat, and that on removing the ashes he would find a cake. But his watch had struck her fancy, and her curiosity had to be gratified by an immediate sight of it. He took off the gold chain that secured it from around his neck and presented it to her. She was all ecstasy, spoke of its beauty, asked him its value, and put the chain around her brawny neck, saying how happy the possession of such a watch would make her. Thoughtless, in so retired a spot, secure, he paid little attention to her talk or her movements. He helped his dog to a good supper of venison, and was not long in satisfying the demands of his own appetite.

The Indian rose from his seat, as if in extreme suffering. He passed and repassed Audubon several times, and once pinched him on the side so violently that the pain nearly brought forth an exclamation of anger. Audubon looked at him. Their eyes met, but the Indian's look was so forbidding that it struck a chill into the more nervous part of Audubon's system. The Indian again seated himself, drew his butcher-knife from its greasy scabbard, examined its edge, as one would that of a razor he suspected dull, replaced it, and again taking the tomahawk from from his back, filled the pipe of it with tobacco, and sent Audubon expressive glances whenever their hostess chanced to have her back toward them. Never until that moment had Audubon's senses been awakened to the danger which he now suspected to be about him. Audubon returned glance for glance to his companion, and rested well assured that, whatever enemies he might have, the Indian was not of their number.

Audubon asked the woman for his watch, wound it up, and under the pretense of wishing to see how the weather might be on the morrow took up his gun, and walked out of the cabin. He slipped a ball into each barrel, scraped the edges of his flints, renewed the priming, and, returning to the hut, gave a favorable account of his observations. He took a few bear skins, made a pallet of them, and calling his faithful dog to his side, he lay down with the gun close to his body, and in a few minutes was, to all appearance, fast asleep.

A short time had elapsed when some voices were heard, and from the corner of his eyes he saw two athletic youths making their entrance, bearing a dead stag on a pole. They disposed of their burden, and asking for whisky, helped themselves freely to it. Observing Audubon and the wounded Indian, they asked who Audubon was, and why the devil that rascal (meaning the Indian, who they knew understood not a word of English) was in the house. The mother—for so she proved to be—bade them speak less loudly, made mention of Audubon's watch, and took them to a corner, where a conversation took place, the purport of which it required little shrewdness in Audubon to guess. He tapped his dog gently. The dog moved his tail, and with indescribable pleasure he saw his fine eyes alternately fixed on him and raised towards the trio in the corner. The Indian exchanged a last glance with Audubon.

The lads had eaten and drunk themselves into such a condition that Audubon looked upon them as hors du combat; and the frequent visits of the whisky-bottle to the ugly mouth of the dam, he hoped, would reduce her to a like state. Judge of his astonishment, when he saw this incarnate fiend take a large carving-knife to the grindstone to whet its edge. Audubon saw her pour the water on the turning-machine and watched her working away with the dangerous instrument, until the sweat covered every part of his body, in spite of his determination to defend himself to the last. Her task finished, she walked to her reeling sons, and said, "There, that'll soon settle him! Boys, kill you ——, and then for the watch."

Audubon turned, cocked his gun-locks silently, touched his faithful companion, and lay ready to start up and shoot the first who might attempt his life. The moment was fast approaching, and that night might have been his last in this world, had not Providence made preparations for his rescue. All was ready. The infernal hag was advancing slowly, probably contemplating the best way of dispatching him, while her sons should be engaged with the Indian. Audubon was several times on the eve of rising and shooting her on the spot; but she was not to be punished thus. The door was suddenly opened, and there entered two stout travelers, each with a long rifle on his shoulder. Audubon bounced up on his feet, and, making them most heartily welcome, told them how well it was for him that they should have arrived at that moment. The tale was told in a minute. The drunken sons were secured, and the woman in spite of her defense and vociferations, shared the same fate. The Indian fairly danced with joy and gave them to understand that, as he could not sleep for pain, he would watch over them. You may suppose they slept much less than they talked. The two strangers gave the naturalist an account of their once having been themselves in a somewhat similar situation.

Day came, fair and rosy, and with it the punishment of the captives. They were now quite sobered. Their feet were unbound, but their arms were securely tied. Audubon and his friends marched them into the wood off the road, and having used them as regulators were wont to use such delinquents, they set fire to the cabin, gave all the skins and implements to the young Indian warrior, and proceeded, well pleased, towards the settlements.

A letter from a prominent citizen of Atlanta, received in New York, says that a new political movement based upon the belief that reconstruction under the laws of Congress is certain to be accomplished, and conceding impartial suffrage as an irrevocable fact, has been started in that State, and that it is designed to make such liberal concessions to the colored voters as to carry a large portion of them into the party, and thus secure the substantial control of the State to the white element. They begin to see that this can only be done by conceding all that Congress has proclaimed.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IN BRINGING THE ABOVE-NAMED NEW REMEDY to the notice of the Public, the Proprietor begs to state a few facts in relation to it, as follows:

It originated in Prussia, where the science of healing is so thoroughly taught and practised, but owing to the poverty of its discoverer its wonderful properties were not known beyond the limited circle of his acquaintance, in which, however, it proved itself absolutely certain in eradicating disease from the eyes.

He immigrated to this country, bringing his secret with him, but seems to have been indifferent to the propriety of giving it general and wide-spread circulation, and, as previously in his native country, was only desirous of using it among his friends and neighbors.

The present proprietor was one of the latter, and for many years was a witness to its wonderful efficacy, and, after ineffectual efforts to persuade the inventor to more widely disseminate the knowledge of its virtues, finally became himself the possessor of the secret of its preparation.

And now, while he does not deny that he hopes and expects to make money by its sale, he must yet be allowed to a desire to benefit his fellow-men by furnishing them a remedy which does and will cure when medical advice and all experience have failed.

He wishes it to be understood that it will cure all cases of the eye, whether of recent or long standing; its greatest power is exhibited when it is applied to Chronic Cases of long standing, which have resisted every other attempt to cure them, and which have been given up as hopeless and past being cured or relieved.

He asks those afflicted in this way to give it a trial, so confident is he of its success, that he instructs all agents TO REFUND THE MONEY IF IT FAILS TO CURE.

It has, within the past year, cured cases of GRANULATED LIDS, INFLAMMATION, &c., of SIX, NINE, FIFTEEN and SEVENTEEN YEARS STANDING, evidence of which can be furnished in the persons of the following persons living in and in the neighborhood of Harrisburg, Linn county:

ALEXANDER L. WALKER was cured of inflamed eyes, of nine years standing. Had been treated by eminent physicians during all that time without relief.

Mrs. MONTGOMERY, of Harrisburg, had inflamed eyes for over two years. Her only remedy for them was so bad that she could not work. Was finally completely cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

E. H. MOORE, of the firm of Moore, Garst & Baber, of Harrisburg, had granulated lids for six years.

NATHANIEL BELL, of Clackamas county, had inflamed eyes—a bad case—for over fifteen years.

ROBERT RAMPY and W. D. PORTER, of Harrisburg; JOHN M. HOLLOWAY, of Linn County; G. R. WARD, of Lane County, were all afflicted, more or less severely, with diseased eyes, and were cured by the Ophthalmic Panacea.

All the above-named persons have given lengthy testimonials to the facts as above stated, which may be seen at the proprietor's office in Harrisburg.

Prepared by SMITH & RILEY,
Harrisburg, Oregon.
For sale by SMITH & DAVIS, Portland, Oregon.

THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT!

WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, HAVING PURCHASED the "UNION BOOK & JOB PRINTING OFFICE," of T. F. McElroy, propose to issue a Weekly Newspaper at Olympia, W. T., on or about the 1st of December next, to be called THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT.

The paper will be devoted to the Agricultural, Mechanical, Commercial, Mineral, Moral and Political interests of the whole Territory.

In Politics we shall uphold and sustain the Union Principles of the Nation, at the same time reserving the right to be INDEPENDENT on all subjects, that we may be better able to discuss all matters in their true light, and give credit wherever it is due.

We trust our friends will circulate this prospectus generally, and assist us in getting a good list of Subscribers, Advertisements, or Job Work. We also invite correspondence from all sections of the Territory.

THE OLYMPIA TRANSCRIPT will be issued every Saturday, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Hoping to receive a share of public favor, we unfurl our banner to the breeze.

CARD.

DR BARLOW J SMITH'S WATER CURE AND Phrenological Institute, 627 Sacramento Street, San Francisco. This is the only Regular Water Cure in Francisco, where all curable diseases are treated without drugs. Dr. Smith was the first to establish a water cure on this coast, based upon the theory and practice of the New York Hydropathic College.

We have a truly healthful boarding place for men, women and children, and our prices are moderate.

The Phrenological organs plainly indicate the diseases to which any person, male or female, is predisposed.

Put this card in your hat, and when you come to San Francisco, call on Dr. Smith. He will give you consultation and a phrenological examination in regard to health. It will cost you nothing and may save you months and years of ill health and "bad luck."

Dr. Smith gives free lectures to gentlemen every Friday evening, on subjects pertaining to health, at his Phrenological Hall, 627 Sacramento Street.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their suffering, see it ted and disfigured faces and their broken constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fœted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injuries or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with, a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Country papers will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

REDINGTON & CO'S

ESSENCE OF

JAMAICA GINGER

This valuable preparation, containing, in a highly concentrated form, all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for, while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.
